The class of 1975 dedicates its yearbook to Miss Mary I. Cook, one of the finest teachers we have ever had the privilege of knowing. Looking back, we can now appreciate her wonderful patience and sense of humor. Few would have borne so cheerfully our antics as eighth-graders. We dedicate this book to her out of gratitude and out of love, for she is truly one great lady.

Like a soft rain, habit has lulled you to sleep.

Your kingdom is a dream,
a surrealistic landscape.

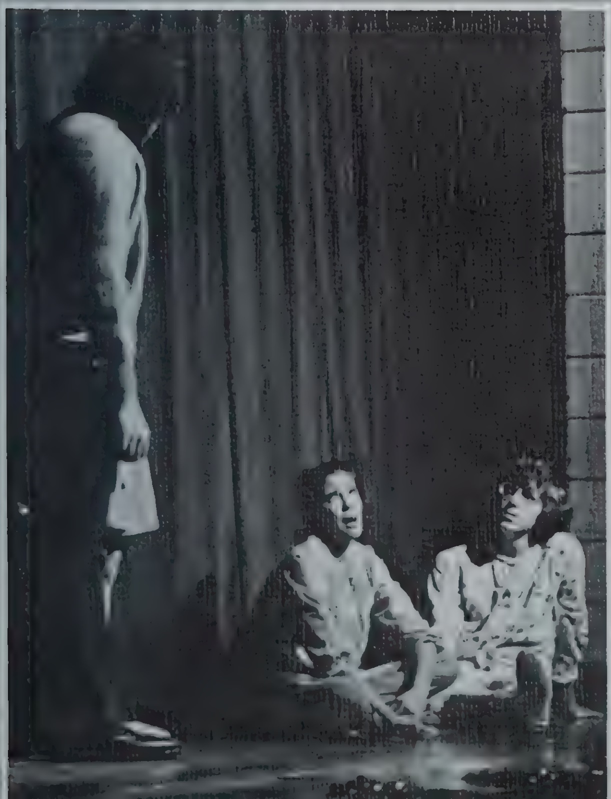
CAMBRIDGE

The sounds you make, . . . are silent.

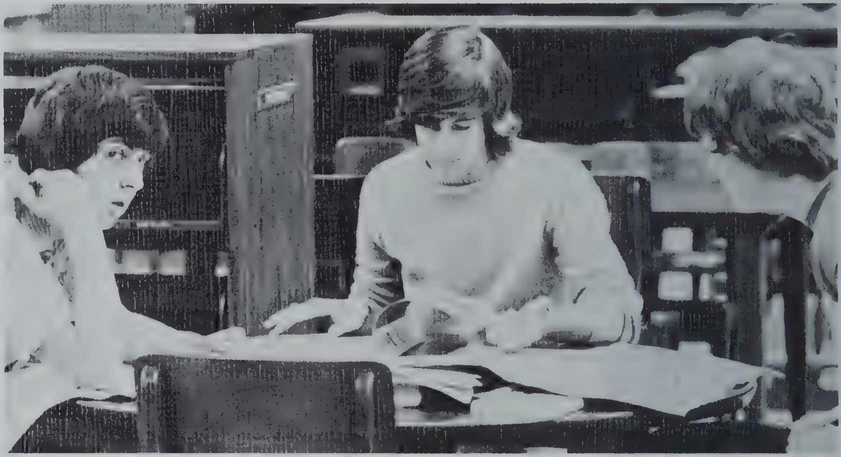
To keep the rain falling, falling.



Your sleep however, cannot last.
The rain becomes a roar;
It echoes like laughter within your castle walls.

You would flee the laughter,
But on the edge of awakening, you see too clearly,
All the sad and comical events that are a life

"Oh, ma jeese!"



"Boy, is she built!"

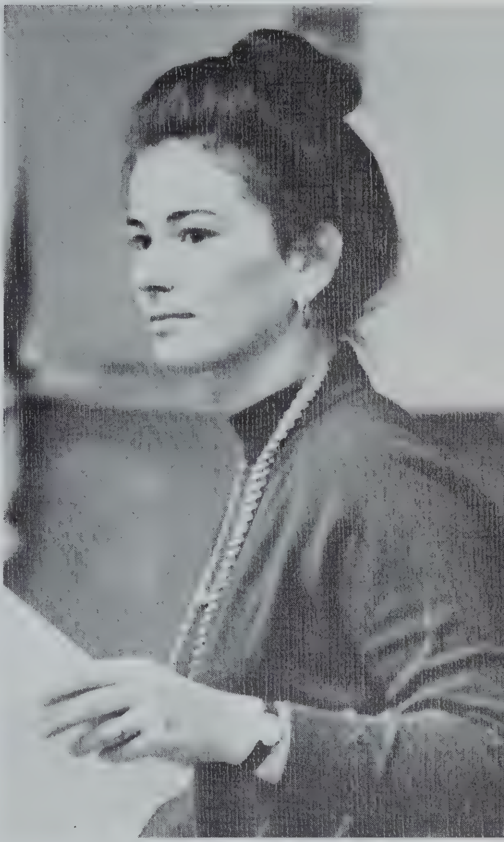
The Inner Sanctum

"Now Tony, we see eye to eye on things!"

"O.K., guess which hand the fish is in."

"Does she or doesn't she?"

Advisors



The staff of the 1975 HORNET would like to convey its sincere thanks to Mrs. Paula Dyer for the long and sometimes trying hours she has put in as yearbook advisor. No one has been more dedicated, no one more determined than she to make our yearbook a truly superior achievement. The loss of such a fine teacher and friend will be keenly felt by all her students; she is irreplaceable. We wish her great happiness, now and always.

The class of 1975 thanks Mrs. Giselle Zangari and Mr. Nicholas Pacella as our class advisors. We deeply appreciate their efforts toward our success.

2. Standing on the brink of something I don't understand
I wish someone would come with me, just to hold my hand
But I've got to find a new way alone as so many have done before
Abandon all my childhood games when I step through that door

3. Though these days will be far behind me, I'll remember still
And despite the years that I go through I guess I always will
But memories won't lure me back, I know I must be free
Without the past of the future in a timeless ODYSSEY

Scary Omens

Several important indicators of the U.S. economy flashed some of their gloomiest signals ever last week. Wholesale prices leaped a frightening 3.9% in August alone, the second biggest one-month rise in 28 years. On top of a 3.7% surge in July, it was a sure omen of more explosive inflation in consumer prices. The news sent the stock market reeli

Marcy L. Davis

You never heard my song before the music was too loud
But now I think you hear me well for now we both know how
No star can light our way in this cloud of dark and fear
But some day, one day . . .

When I was you and you were me
and we were very young Together took us nearly there the rest may not be sung
So still the cloud it hangs over us
and we're alone
But some day, one day . . .

Funny how the pages turn and hold us in between
A misty castle waits for you and you shall be a queen
Today the cloud hangs over us and all is gray
But some day, one day . . .

We'll come home . . .
